The Last Supper and The City of Jerusalem

As Easter is fast approaching, we presented two biblical lessons in the atrium. The first is called "the Cenacle" which is the name of the building where Jesus celebrated "The Last Supper". In the City of Jerusalem, the children explore the city, its buildings, and briefly hear the path Jesus took leading up to the tomb where he "rose" on Easter morning.

Letter Sounds e o u

This week we reviewed the vowels e, o and u.
When we return, we will do the letter sound y as in yak.

Poetry

Mrs. McAndrew showed the children what a stanza looks like in a poem. She also told the children a humorous story about her 1 year old, Patick, before she read the poem "I'm Filthy, I'm Dirty" by Alan Katz. She also read "Take Me Out of the Bathtub" by Alan Katz and "Bed in Summer" and "Rain" both by Robert Louis Stevenson. The children are really enjoying learning poetry with Mrs. McAndrew.

Beetles!

Some of the mealworms have turned into beetles. The children have been excited to see the stages go from mealworm to pupa, to darkling beetle. Thanks again to Julian's Mom, Eve Ayoub, for this great hands - on experiment.
